

Department for mustering out of service all troops whose terms of service expire before the 13th of October next.

The initial movements for inducing Northerners to emigrate to the South to settle and cultivate the land of the re-conquered States have been undertaken by two North Carolina gentlemen, who are now in this city for the purpose of furnishing information to those desirous of seeking new homes in that region. These men who have large quantities of land to sell, say that the North Carolinians generally are glad that their State is rid of slavery, and are anxious to have it filled up and developed by Northern settlers.

The mayor and magistrates of Alexandria, Virginia, boldly declare their determination to adhere to the old State law and say that so far from receive the testimony of a negro in their courts, they will resign their respective offices.

A case in which the testimony of colored man was refused recently occurred in that city. A wall to do negro was arrested

The local courts have no jurisdiction in such cases, the officers of the Freedmen's

Bureau being instructed by said circular to adjudicate all difficulties between negroes or negroes and whites.

The Justice still persisted in proceeding with the trial. The negro defendant not appearing in court, in compliance with instructions of the officer of the Freedmen's Bureau, the court then gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff and issued an execution for the seizure of the property of the colored man, over whose residence a guard was at once posted by an officer of the

On learning the circumstances, General Howard immediately addressed a letter to the Mayor, earnestly requesting him to transfer all such cases to the officers of his Bureau.

In accordance with the provisions of Circular No. 6 from his headquarters, should similar cases occur, the military authorities will be called upon to enforce General Howard's orders.

Captain Moore, of the Andersonville prison camp, is to be put on trial next week before the Military Commission. His defense in this city, of a late prisoner General Underwood is President. The neck bone of the assassin John Wilkes Booth, which was shattered by the bullet that caused his death, are now on exhibition among the other surgical curiosities of the war, in the army medical museum in this city.

The Herald's Washington special, 20th, says the publication of Governor Perry's speech of July 33, has excited a storm of indignant opposition on the part of the more radical supporters of the Administration. The Governor has, however, and very satisfactory interviews with the President and most members of the Cabinet. They express great confidence in the loyalty and patriotism of Gov. Perry, and believe that he will administer the duties of his office with a loyal spirit.

Gov. Perry and the accompanying delegation will leave for South Carolina on

FROM NASHVILLE.
NASHVILLE, July 21.
Gen. Fiske, Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen and Abandoned Lands, has directed that no more refugees from Georgia and Alabama be transported South from Louisville, except upon special authority from him. Refugees from Georgia and Alabama now in the States south of Ohio, will not be upon good evidence, that they will not become a charge upon the Government for their subsistence.

This action is made necessary by the return to Nashville of large numbers who have but recently been furnished with transportation to their homes, and upon their arrival they were unable to procure food sufficient to prevent starvation.

Eleven bushwhackers, who were recently captured in Hancock county, were brought in to-day. Their wid. and young

The President's timely endorsement of Governor Brownlow's course relative to the approaching election has greatly cooled the excitement. The arrangements will be made for submission to the laws where violence may be apprehended.

Braine and Ferguson's trials are progressing slowly. The former, for the prosecution suit compy both courts and is very damaging to the accused.

FROM THE PRESIDENT.

NASHVILLE, July 22.

The following dispatch was received by Governor Brownlow from the President:

WASHINGTON, July 20, 1865.

To Hon. W. G. Brownlow:

I hope and have no doubt you will see that the recent amendments to the Constitution of the State, as adopted by the people, and all the laws passed by the Legislature in pursuance thereof, are faithfully and fairly executed, and that all illegal acts which have been committed cluded from the polls, and the election for members of Congress be legally and fairly conducted; when and wherever it may seem necessary to employ force for the execution of the law and the protection of the ballot box from violence and fraud, you are authorized to call upon Major General Thomas for sufficient military force to sustain the civil authorities of the State.

I have received your request and address to the people, and think it well timed, and hope it will do much good in reconciling the opposition to the amendment of the Constitution and the laws passed by the last Legislature. The laws must be executed and the civil authority sustained. In your efforts to do this, if necessary, General Thomas will afford a sufficient military force. You are at liberty to make what use you think proper of this dispatch.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
President of the United States.

FROM DANIEL HEALY

FORRESTER MONROE, July 20.

I have the best authority for saying that Jeff Davis is in good health, even better than when brought here. His eye sight is not impaired, and his appetite is remarkably good. No one is allowed to see him except Dr. Craven and the guard.

The Government line of steamers has been discontinued between Norfolk and Old Point.

The steamer Matano commenced to-day to run between Norfolk, Old Point, and Yorktown, making daily trips. This is a private enterprise.

City Point will no longer be a military depot.

Another reduction in expenses in this Department has taken place in the discharge of steamers, and the employees will soon be discharged.

Orders are passing now for Baltimore with some discharged troops of Kilpatrick's command.

It is said that orders have been issued to
